

Building His Way to the Top!

After long thoughtful contemplation about his wish, Charlie, decided that his ultimate vacation destination was to go to Legoland in San Diego, California! Being the energetic, fun-loving five-year-old that he is, Legoland was the perfect location to explore the theme park made out of legos and bring his family to enjoy the excitement, too!

Before his California adventure began, a send-off party was thrown in Charlie's honor to celebrate his wish. The private party room was filled with bounce houses, bounce slides, and an arcade that was waiting on him with all of the coins he could imagine! Everyone enjoyed pizza and cake, and then presented Charlie with a few goodies to take along on his journey.

Charlie was bursting with enthusiasm as soon as he entered the unique theme park. Everything was made out of legos—he could not believe it! Inside the park, there was even an aquarium that Charlie was able to visit. He definitely made the right choice in choosing a vacation spot!

Charlie and his family had the best time seeing all of the attractions made out of legos! It was every little five-year-old boy's dream. His trip allowed him to forget about all of the visits to the doctor and return home with a rejuvenated spirit and strength. Charlie made memories that will last a lifetime!
